DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/9/03 has been entered.

Specification

1. The amendment filed 10/9/03 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: "blister base film thickness greater than the blister side thickness".

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. A blister film thickness greater than the blister side thickness.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable by Thompson et al. (5457895) in view of Intini (4537312).

Thompson et al. discloses a blister pack (figure 3, number 22) comprising an embossed blister (col. 1 line 11) having indicia thereon and structured to mold the indicia onto the solid dosage form formed (figure 6 number 28) is formed from a laminated film (col. 1 lines 18-19). Thompson et al. fail to disclose wherein the blister comprises a blister base film thickness greater than the blister side thickness (figure 4 number 22 and 28).

Intini teaches that the blister base thickness is greater than the blister side thickness (figure 8 numbers 12, 18, 20, 14 are the base thickness and off to the left side is the blister side thickness) for the purpose of providing a greater security against children being able to open the package (col. 4 lines 67-68).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to provide Thompson et al. with the blister base thickness is greater than the blister side thickness in order to provide a greater security against children being able to open the package (col. 4 lines 67-68).

Regarding to the process limitations, "forming a blister by advancing a pin having a face with an indicia thereon in transversal direction relative to the film plane towards and into engagement with a platen bearing an indicia forming die thereon and located on the opposite side of the film wherein the advancing movement of the pin controllably stretches the film around the blister in a manner minimizing stretching of the film located at the base of the blister", the process of forming the product is not germane to the issue of patentability of the product itself.
